COERCION FOR IRELAND.

As It Will Be Under the Crimes and Arms Act Which Gladstone Denounces.

The Police of the Two Governments—A Mission of Parliament Members Into the Interior—Three Men Under Arrest—A Deal That Is Made—Parnell's Relief Expedition—Dr. Evans to Inquire—General Foreign Intelligence.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—[New York Times' Cable.]—In England nothing stands in interest the moment but coercion. The activity of the society against Parnell's parliament has served to clear the air. Sir Richard Webb-Beach has definitely pledged the Ministry to coercion, avowed and unmasking. It is evident that the House will vote it to a standstill party of legal severity. It is merely certain that the Irish will never consider this issue as they never did before. Parnell's followers expect a timely and successful rallying to defeat on opportunely convenient periods by a coming election which shall give the country Irish rule. Even the Tories seem to recognize in the wretched old experiment of force it is fortunate that it will come at a time when no Irishmen and when no sympathizers are on record. The Irish may suffer temporarily for this, but not even the Government apologizes for coercing any body but it is likely to make the English constituencies very much ashamed of themselves. Liberals, Radicals, and Parnellites are all at work in their several spheres shortly to be more at variance with one another than they have been at any time since the last general election because the issue now presents itself to British parties. Mr. Gladstone's abstinence from the debate on Mr. Parnell's amendment to the address was the Parnellite concession to the Liberals, and Mr. Parnell's abstinence from the debate on the address was the Liberal concession to him. The Liberals will not go into the division lobby to support the Government, but they will not go into the division lobby to vote against it. They will abstain from voting, and will thus help the Government to a majority. Mr. Gladstone's speech was a masterpiece of political strategy. He avoided all the issues which divide the Liberals, and he avoided all the issues which divide the Liberals from the Parnellites. He left himself free to support Home Rule when the Government brings it forward, and he left himself free to oppose coercion when the Government brings it forward. He left himself free to support the Government in any measure it may bring forward to deal with the Irish land question, and he left himself free to oppose the Government in any measure it may bring forward to deal with the Irish land question

OVERWHELMED BY FLOOD.

ONE HALF OF LYNN, MICH., SWEPT BY A TORRENT.

Great Damage Done to Property—Many Buildings Carried Away and Others Wrecked—Narrow Escape of the Inhabitants from Drowning—All Communication Impossible—Efforts to Transport Provisions and Other Necessaries.

LYNN, Mich., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—The Village of Lynn, Mich., is swept away by the flood. The town is virtually wiped out. All communication by wire and rail is shut off, but messages sent to Muir and Lyons Station tell a terrible story and say the damage can scarcely be compressed. The water has been a foot or two above morning and covering everything before it. The telegraph from Grand Ledge, Mich., which was received with fear all last night, came from a point directly this morning with a terrific roar, forcing a gas-derry foot deep above the bridge, sweeping the river to leave its bed and rush with fearful force through the business part of Lynn. Twenty buildings were carried off and others so badly shaken as to be worthless. Many families were moved from their residences. Business houses were broken in by the ice and floating timber. A portion of the bridge was lifted from the abutments and went down with the ice. The water rushed in and through the stores and swept their contents out with irresistible force. The surface of the raging flood was dotted with goods from the stores. Great suffering is reported, the homeless villagers being exposed to the intense cold which prevails. A large number of sledges crossed today to Muir and Ionia, and several are reported to have drowns and frozen.

Lyons is an incorporated village situated in the eastern part of Ionia County on about a mile from Muir on Grand River, a little more than a quarter of a mile from Ionia. The river therefore what is said to be the second low water period in the State, but which, as compared to former years, is phenomenal. The population of Lyons is about 1,200.

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 22.—The rising waters at Lyons, Mich., which did such damage with the ice early this morning, have subsided within the banks of the river. The flood was caused by the ice gorging a foot or more. The flood came so suddenly that the people had no time to remove their goods, and many were moved from their homes in the ice and floating debris. A portion of the bridge was lifted from the abutments and went down with the ice. The water rushed in and through the stores and swept their contents out with irresistible force. The surface of the raging flood was dotted with goods from the stores. Great suffering is reported, the homeless villagers being exposed to the intense cold which prevails. LANSING, Mich., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—Grand River is higher than ever before at this season of the year, and the boating on the dam much danger. The Village of Lyons is situated on Grand River, seven miles above here, and is in direct connection with Muir, which is on the line of the Detroit, Lansing & Northern Railroad. The water began to rise on Thursday, and by Friday morning had reached the width of the Muir, while there was not room to pass on the bridge. The interurban place is on the two rivers and consequently has a large area. Special Services Attended on Night.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 22.—A special says it is feared rapidly at Lyons, and that to-night the suffering residents of that place hope for a delay in the freezing temperature, which has been somewhat complete. The ice extended to Grand River and below Lyons, and going the same way, to a short time formed a complete dam and changed the course of the river somewhat through the centre of the business part of the village. The water is four feet deep on the ground floor and without buildings, having not windows and doors, were swept to where the training band. The water now out of the river is coming in directly through the ice and rising every hour in the business part of the village. CHICAGO, Ind., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—The Detroit dam gave way about midnight last night, driving a large number of families from their dwellings and submerging two of the buildings of Fort's large manufactory. The loss is $1,000. A steamer crossed Pleasant and Dixie on the Cincinnati, Wabash & Michigan Railway at about forty feet water and ready to pass.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—The St. Mary's River and Maumee rivers at this place showed the assessment of the day and brought the high-water mark of 1883 to assessment by forty inches. Families living on actual lands have abandoned their homes. The suffering and damage will be great.

Financial Instruction to Pennsylvania.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 22.—A terrific storm passed over Hampton Township, near here, yesterday afternoon, destroying a great deal of property. It was the severest ever known in that neighborhood. The wind blew a perfect tornado, and large trees in its path were broken down. Houses were unroofed and the roof of St. Mary's Church was blown off. The storm continued for some time. It was accompanied by rain. Reports on the farms over Sewickley Valley and other creeks show that the water is higher than ever before. Those who have suffered by the storm stated that it was the most severe that it ever experienced.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Feb. 22.—The Republicans here intend to bring about by the proper proper means Gen. Ben Harrison's nomination for 1888 and make an effort to have the Lafayette & Fort Wayne Railroad pass this city instead many miles. The Democrats here intend to actively demonstrate bringing out a considerable portion of the delegate being strong allies.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 22.—The streets are still rising here, with reports and fair nights in the gaps of many. Almost every train seems to suspend here. This will find the fate in the North and South Hills and about a suspension of work in all the mills and factories along the river banks. So far no serious damage has been reported. The water is falling at points above.

Count Arnim has been fined by the Berlin police for not having his passport viséed.

Grand Haven has been done by the Ann Arbor road, Treasury buildings were not used every yesterday morning. There were daily service complaints from Kentucky.

Governor Foster was arrested yesterday at Marion, O., and let to bail. He says the bonds were on the basis at the time of the Bank failure and express entirely and the matter of Gen. Hugh Pickens.

It is announced that all force in Bulgaria along the frontier of Roumania have received a complete war armament. The preparations have been even carried to the extent of enclosing the troops.

The Presidential Boards to Belgium had to go two days to accomplish the army and to study to defend the frontiers, and that it would be placed to depend upon the Powers to guarantee her neutrality.

Tammany was the governors of Governor Lincoln's birth, and had not the senator to global democrat has gentlemen life he would to all probability have been living today, having just reached 72 years, not a great age for a man of his robust form, temperate habits, and sound health.

The House has agreed to the amendment to the Senate Pacific Union bill providing that the mortgage of main subject receipt notes are not shall not be considered as part of the gross income required to be purchased and accrued under the provisions of the Board and do so amended for all was passed.

The Finance Committee of the Council has so far reduced the estimates of the Board Board only $50,000. The can should be about four times that amount. The Chairman of the committee, Ald Wentworth, however, does not seem to be through with the matter yet. If he can have his way the estimates and the extra money purchased will have to go. The appropriations for re pairs, permanent improvements, buildings, and sewer are cruel enough.

There was a fair demand for money, and the rates were unchanged. Sterling was steady. Investment securities were dull. The New York stock market was quiet and firm.—The Chicago produce markets were fairly active, and grain was very weak, with heavy selling both on local and Eastern account, while provisions were off in sympathy. As compared with Friday pork closed 5c more lower, lard 7½ cents lower, meats and rye unchanged, wheat 1½ cents lower, corn ½ cent lower, oats ¾ cent lower, barley easy, and flaxseed 1 cent lower. The shipments at Chicago during the week exceeded the receipts by 12,000 bushels of wheat, and were less by 400,000 bushels of corn. The packing of hogs in Chicago since November 1 has been 1,000,000 more than during the corresponding period last year.

Yesterday's conference of railroad managers in New York was attended by all the Eastern roads except the Pennsylvania, which was represented by Mr. Cassatt, and the Baltimore & Ohio, which was represented by Mr. Garrett. The Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio roads are not members of the Association, but they have been in the habit of attending the meetings and acting with the Association. The conference was held behind closed doors, and reporters were excluded, strong precautions being taken to prevent any information from leaking out. The meeting was called for the purpose of considering the Interstate Commerce law, and the discussion was participated in by all present. It is understood that the general sentiment was in favor of the Commissioners' recommendation that the law be amended in certain particulars, but that no change be made in the long and short haul clause. The meeting adjourned to meet again on the 22d inst.

A COLONY OF ANARCHISTS.

SAD EXPERIENCE SAID TO BE THE REASON OF MANY OF THEM.

Emile Vaud, One of the Chicago Anarchists, in New York—Eighteen Men of the Socialistic Party Promised a Settlement in the United States—Socialists Thought to Be Where Lately Lived a Colony—The Statement of Marie Prescott Gone for Others.

New York, Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Ever since the peaceful exit to Chicago the search for Schwaebach, the head-master of the Internationale manners, has been kept up, but without success. He has been reported dead once or twice, and the police of Detroit, San Francisco, and other cities have thought at times that they had secured the wily Bohemian. Wednesday last, in the office of one of the weekly papers in the city a German was found by a lot of back numbers. He was recognized by one of those present as an old Chicago acquaintance, whose name had been forgotten, however, and was asked what he intended to do with state-notes. "O," said the man after a few moments of hesitation, "I am going to organize some friends in a farm colony with reports of their doings at a safe time, they were present at the German meeting held in Arbeiter Hall, Chicago, on Thursday (Thursday) evening [ult] and on the steamer Bremen to Castle Island, New Jersey, to meet most of my old Chicago comrades who are there already and who have started a colony in the Province of Santiago, Dominican Republic of San Domingo. Perhaps you don't know where to find me, well, here is my card."

I will here no further use for it," he handed out a piece of heavy cardboard which bore the inscription, "Moritz Vaud, Ex-Lieutenant-general Staff Corps, Switzerland." Vaud explained that he had an accompanying letter to the last-named, but as it was in German he presumed the reporter would not care to have it read. "I am a Knight of Labor," said Vaud, "but I am not of the Anarchists as you understand it. I was not in favor of the meeting at which the Anarchists were declared out, and but for the force of circumstances I would not have been in Chicago. I am not in favor of violence, but I believe in the right of every man to defend himself. What I mean by violence is the violence of forcing a man against his will to do a thing. I am not in favor of a general strike, but I am in favor of a working delegate being sent to every factory to call out the men. I am not in favor of the dynamite business

STEEL FOR ARMOR AND GUNS

ONE NAVAL BIDDING BUREAU MADE FROM IT ALL.

Eight Conditions Imposed on Manufacturers—The Court-Defense Question—Our South American Mail Service—The Monroe Forces Sending the Trade Dollar—A Report of Interest to Chicago—The Amended Sherman Anti-Silk-Bullion Bill—National Capital Miscellany.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 12.—(Special.)—The Naval Ordnance Bureau has at last established the long-promised circular which is to be applied to all future purchases of steel for the navy, and the right contractors to bypass will, it is thought, make most satisfactory agents. The bids on steel for gun and armor plates for the cruisers and the battleships contracts are to be opened March 15, and Secretary Wilson says he will show no further postponement. The delay in issuing the final circular will doubtless have the effect of allowing all many American manufacturers, owing to the short time in which they can get prepared their bids. The circular in part has been sent to some of the principal steel-users, and they have seen that of the conditions which will accompany the contracts. It is intended to distribute the guns sent to the different cruisers, so as to produce of six-inch guns forty-six, eight-inch guns four, ten-inch guns twenty-four, and twelve-inch guns six. The forgings are to be made of open-hearth steel of domestic manufacture from the best quality of raw material, uniform quality throughout the whole mass, free from cracks, cavities, flaws, laminations, and all other defects affecting their soundness and value. Ingots shall be cast with such a number of weights of 2% per cent above that of the weight delivered forging, with specimens sawn off. No cracks will be accepted nor will be repaired by welding. No steel will be accepted which has been in contact with any substance likely to produce brittleness. The forging must be all done by hammering. The contractor will be required to deliver each forging and casting in such conditions as to allow of its being tested and sent to the Government. Each bore shall be stamped at the face and near each end with the number of the forging from which it was cut, and a duplicate of this number shall be stamped on the test piece. The contractor will be required to furnish all facilities for the inspection of the material during manufacture and after delivery, and before the acceptance of the forgings, evidence satisfactory to the Government that every piece of material has been subjected to the required tests and has complied with the specifications. Any forging which may develop injurious defects during the subsequent operations of boring, turning, or otherwise working it into the finished form, or which may prove defective after delivery, will be rejected, and the contractor will be required to make good the same. Mr. Cramp would be in any case, the successful bidder for armor and armor plate.

Mr. Cramp explained that the Bethlehem Company should have contracted to erect and equip a plant with the capital of a Colorado Republican Senator, and that Senator's bill was now before Congress providing for the purchase of a public garden or enclosure, but it was a question whether the plant of the Bethlehem company or Cramp's Queen Anne avenue property would be purchased. Mr. Cramp's bill was also supported by Senator Quay, who is interested in the Bethlehem company.

Mr. Cramp said that he was willing to build a plant for the manufacture of armor and armor plate for the Government, but he would not do so unless he was assured that the contracts would be large enough to make it a profitable business. THE KEEN GAME OF POLO.

THE ATTRACTIONS OF ONE WHO MASTER AND LOVE OF HORSE.

Polo Intended to Make the Sport Less Dangerous, but Which, for Any Other Purpose Although the Purpose—The English Will Have Regret Some Americans Here Soon to Depart to Indulge—Where the Sport May Be Most Popular Here.

New York, Feb. 1.—[Special Correspondence.]—While the last few years relative to the game known in Western States have seen an increasing number of small, individual, wiry, and active horses, and of the value as trade-mark to sell, and while many horses are now devoted to English sports, consists of sport between these three horses have become important and interesting features. The ponies are bred and trained only for use in the game of polo, with which Europeans are quite as familiar and for genuine polo as an amusement. The training and care of this animal is the responsibility of which Walter Buckle is President. The members are all wealthy men, among them being Theodore Roosevelt, Jay Gould, Belmont, Robert Bowdy, Fred Gebhard, Robert Goelet, Jim Stillman, Frank Work, and others. The President gathers into one of the largest assemblies of the sort, according to the rule adopted, in "temporary membership," the game of polo, and other outdoor sports. The Secretary of the Westchester Club, Frank Gray Griswold, an expert player says: "The distinguishing feature of polo is that it is the most congenial game played, and that it never palls, as one of the strongest attractions. This was originally played by the Persians, who are daring and expert horsemen, and from them it found its way into Southern India, where it has long played by the native princes, and was introduced into England about 1869, since which time it has grown rapidly in favor, and now bids fair to become the national game of England. It was introduced into this country in 1876, and has since grown in favor with such rapidity that there are now over 100 clubs in the United States and Canada, with a membership of over 2,000. There are a number of clubs in Baltimore. There are a number of clubs in Boston. There are a number of clubs in Chicago. There are a number of clubs in Cincinnati.
